In this report, Havlíček Law Firm must also thank all of its clients for the confidence they have entrusted to our office with the provision of their affairs. The confidence is binding for us, we never let our confidence between us and the client break.

Our starting principle, which governs our office, is „the right we enjoy“.

We start with this rule when we are recruiting new colleagues, selecting interns, colleagues and collaborators. It must be the definition of everyone with whom we can work on a project. It is actually a driving engine because when we are enjoying the right, then we do our best not only as we do, but also as best we can.

In 2019 we definitely intend to continue our approach to clients, our work and law and rights, and we will continue to enjoy it, which also means continuous education.

In 2019 we would like to strengthen our position in the market of narrowly profiled and specialized law firms and expand our operations in the international environment. We also plan to improve serviceability for our clients from Prague and the surrounding area.

In 2019 we are going to focus on deepening personal and business relationships with our existing clients, which corresponds to the philosophy of our law firm, we are going to continuously work to address other potential clients, to take part in the selection process and in the publishing activity to prove that we really enjoy the right.
